Moderator:
Brian Lindberg, MMHS, Public Policy Advisor, GSA
Brian worked in Congress for ten years on the House Select Committee on Aging and the Senate Special Committee on Aging. Since 1993, he has served as the Executive Director of the Consumer Coalition for Quality Health Care. Brian also serves as the Public Policy Advisor for The Gerontological Society of America and the Change AGEnts Institute. He also provides public policy consultation for a number of other organizations including: the National Association for Geriatric Education, the National Association of State Long-Term Care Ombudsman Programs, the Campaign to End Unwanted Medical Treatment, and the Elder Justice Coalition.

Speakers:
Larry Atkins, PhD, Executive Director, Long-Term Quality Alliance; President, National Academy of Social Insurance
Larry is a veteran of nearly 40 years of health and social policy analysis, policy development, and legislative representation at the local, state, and federal levels. In 2013, he served as Staff Director of the federal Commission on Long-Term Care, which was created as part of budget legislation to find solutions to the difficulties families and individuals have in accessing and financing long-term supports and services. Larry is currently Executive Director of the Long-Term Quality Alliance, and President of the National Academy of Social Insurance. Prior to that, he was Executive Director, U.S. Public Policy at the global pharmaceutical manufacturer Merck.

Amy Gotwals, Chief, Public Policy & External Affairs, National Association of Area Agencies on Aging (n4a)
Amy has 20 years of public policy, lobbying, and grassroots organizing experience. She leads n4a’s public policy, advocacy, communications, marketing, external relations and membership relations activities. Representing local aging agencies, Amy serves as the lead in outreach to Congress and the Administration to ensure that needed resources and support services are available to older Americans and their caregivers.

Nora Super, MPA, Executive Director, 2015 White House Conference on Aging
Nora has more than 20 years of experience working in Washington, DC, on a wide range of aging policy issues, including health care delivery and payment reform, Medicare, Medicaid, long-term care, retirement income security, and other federal and state aging programs. Prior to being named Executive Director of the 2015 White House Conference on Aging, Nora served in a leadership role in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology. Before joining federal service, Nora served as Director, Federal Government Relations, Health and Long-Term Care at AARP. Before joining AARP, Nora represented Kaiser Permanente’s eight regional Permanente Medical Groups as the Permanente Federation’s Director of Public Policy and Government Relations.